Course Description

In the catalog:

In this course, students will expand their professional development skills. This includes practicing technical writing, presenting and whiteboarding skills. They will also continue developing their professional persona through social media and establish personal best practices for emails, events and “cold” contacting.

What it means:

You will be preparing yourself for the job market and finalizing what you are hoping to do with your career post graduation. Attending networking events, meeting professionals, and developing your portfolio will prepare you for these endeavours.
